Huge Craft Crashes In East River

Search For Bodies Hampered By Rain, Wind, Fog In Area

NEW YORK (AP)—A huge, new American Airlines plane carrying 73 persons crashed shattering into the fog-cloaked East River just before midnight Tuesday. Sixty-five were feared dead.

Police said 8 survivors were in hospitals, 19 bodies were recovered and 46 were still missing. The plane carried a crew of 5.

Nine survivors were plucked from the icy, rain-spattered water in the first grim hours of rescue operations, but one died hours later in a hospital.

Swirling currents, winds up to 40 m.p.h. and the rain hampered searchers who hunted for bodies in water littered with luggage and chunks of the plane wreckage.

The missing persons included Beulah Zachary, producer of the Kukla, Fran and Ollie television program.

WHEEL OF CRASHED AIRLINER—A wheel from the American Airlines plane that crashed into the East River late last night with heavy loss of life, is taken in tow early today by a police launch. Plane was attempting to land in fog at LaGuardia Field. (AP Photofax)

Recently Put In Service

The airliner, a Lockheed Electra four turbo-prop model, put into service only about a week ago, was relying on instruments to land in the fog and a light drizzle at La Guardia Field at the end of a nonstop flight from Chicago.

It plummeted into the river between 2,500 and 4,000 feet short of the shoreline start of the runway. The force of the impact cracked the plane in two.

The disaster scene was only about half a mile from Rikers Island, where a Northeast airliner crashed after takeoff in a snowstorm Feb. 1, 1957. Twenty of the 94 persons aboard the Northeast plane were killed.

The American airliner crashed at 11:54 p.m., 49 minutes after it was due at La Guardia.

A tugboat crew heading down the river heard the crash and sped to the scene.

"We heard a terrific crash," said Everett Phelps, 46, co-skipper of the tug.

"The noise seemed to come from about 800 feet away. We turned on a searchlight and saw a plane cracking up in all directions."

"I pulled three persons out. There seemed to be bodies all around, and there were continual screams for help."

Phelps said his crew had picked up eight survivors using boat hooks for snare, before the wreckage slipped away from them in the darkness.

Coast Guard boats raced to the scene and gave a tragic report of "picking up bodies everywhere." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Fortune Teller Failed To Take Look In Future

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Fortune teller Rosa Ziko should have consulted her crystal ball before reading the palm of William Hyeman.

Rosa carefully studied Hyeman's hand and then told him he had all the makings of a "kind hearted guy with a good job."

She changed her mind quickly when Patrolman Hyeman of the vice squad charged her with keeping a dive, fortune telling and obscene conduct.

Judge Orders Nine Negroes Admitted To White Schools

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—U.S. District Judge Albert V. Bryan today ordered nine Negroes admitted to white Alexandria schools next Tuesday.

Bryan upheld the Alexandria School Board's denial of applications by five other Negroes from transfers to white schools.

He described as logical the board's denial of applications by three Negroes to enter George Washington High School. The denial was on the ground that their present school, Parker-Gray, attended only by Negroes, is closer to their homes.

The judge also upheld the board's denial on the ground of academic deficiency by two grade

'Atlas' Firing Seen Success, 'Titan' Fizzle

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A "hot rod" Atlas thundered skyward early today winding up a spectacular ICBM show at the missile test center.

The fiery Atlas shoot came 10½ hours after the new Titan ICBM sputtered out on the ground for the second time, split seconds before its launching debut.

"Hot rod" is the missile man's term for an ICBM that is pushed close to intercontinental range.

The Air Force apparently hoped to come close to duplicating the Nov. 28 feat which saw a "Big A" crack the 6,325-mile inter-continental range barrier for the first time.

On the last attempt to push Atlas to the hilt on Jan. 15 a malfunction developed shortly after launch and the huge rocket wound up in the Atlantic less than 200 miles from the launching site.

The Air Force reported only that today's launching was "another in the Atlas research and development test flight program."

The varied fortunes of the nation's two biggest war rockets coincided with an announcement by Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy that the United States will practically be even with the Soviet Union in the ICBM race by the end of the year.

The Soviets boasted Tuesday that their first ICBMs already had been assigned to troops and that the American long-range missiles were obsolete.

Avalanche Kills Colorado Skier

ASPEN, Colo. (AP)—Three young skiers ventured onto a posted trail Tuesday and touched off a thundering avalanche of snow and rock. One of them was killed.

The body of Gary MacGivern, 21, Seattle, was dug from 10 feet of snow by his companion, Richard Walker, and other rescuers.

Walker, also 21 and from Seattle, his wife, and MacGivern apparently were in search of powder snow favored by expert skiers.

Snow, Colder Weather Due

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five-day forecast: Colder or turning colder Thursday and some warming Sunday or Monday. Recurring snow flurries in the mountains, and precipitation over the area Sunday or Monday. Precipitation will average one-fourth or one-half inch. Temperatures will average 5 to 8 degrees below normal. Normal highs are 38-43 and lows range from 17-23 in the mountains to 23-29 elsewhere.

Solons Begin Housing Bill Floor Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The year's first floor fight affecting President Eisenhower's budget opens in the Senate today on a housing bill.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), author of the measure, told a reporter he was sure he had the votes to hold the measure largely intact. He predicted Eisenhower would sign it.

But Republican leaders, after talking with the President Tuesday, said Eisenhower was quite unhappy about provisions of the measure which would far exceed his budget. They said the possibility of a veto was not discussed but they promised to try to cut the bill closer to administration figures.

On the other side, Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) has pledged a floor fight in an effort to increase the size of some of the programs.

Sparkman's bill is quite similar to one which passed the Senate last year but died in the House in the face of administration opposition. It compares to a $1,650,000,000 proposal of the President this year.

It is designed to meet emergency financing needs of some government housing programs, including an increase in the almost exhausted authority for FHA loan insurance.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned mixed early today after losing most of a slight advance at the opening.

Javits Hints Expansion Of Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) said today that unless President Eisenhower recommends federal action in the whole field of civil rights, he will move to expand the administration program.

Eisenhower is expected to send to Congress in the next 10 days proposals aimed at greater protection of minority voting rights and at curbing disorders in school integration cases.

As outlined at a White House conference of GOP legislative leaders Tuesday, however, the program would not include broad authority for the attorney general to seek injunctions against all types of civil rights violations.

Such authority was asked by Eisenhower in 1957, but the Senate cut the provision from the civil rights bill Congress passed that year.

"If the President doesn't recommend this authority, I certainly shall offer an amendment to include it in the program," Javits said. "We should move forward boldly in this field."

However, Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, the assistant Republican leader, said that from what he heard at Tuesday's conference he believes Eisenhower will shape up a satisfactory program that has a good chance of being passed by Congress. Kuchel has been a consistent advocate of strong civil rights action.

Foes Of Franco Seized In Spain

MADRID (AP)—Generalissimo Franco's government today arrested three Liberal Monarchists who were active in the formation of an anti-Franco political party last week.

It was the government's first retaliation against the new party, the Spanish Union, which was formed at a public banquet in a hotel last Thursday. All parties except Franco's Falange are banned in Spain.

Dulles Says He Carries No New Bid

Arrives In London For Parleys With West Bloc Leaders

LONDON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew in from Washington today for talks with Allied leaders on Western policy in Germany and elsewhere in Europe.

"I have brought no new proposals," he told reporters at the airport.

"I have come here because I suspect that in coming weeks we will be forced to take difficult decisions pressed on us by the Soviet Union."

"It is vital that the Western nations should understand each other."

Will Go To Paris, Bonn

After two days of consultations in London, Dulles plans to go on to Paris and Bonn.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd welcomed Dulles at the airport.

Dulles planned to have a quick talk with U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme commander of North Atlantic Alliance forces in Europe, and then meet with Lloyd and Prime Minister Macmillan.

British opinion favors a change in the Western approach which would offer a demonstration of Allied flexibility. There is a strong feeling here that any new Allied proposal to unite Germany will stand a better chance of breaking the East-West deadlock than the often rejected demand for free all-German elections.

Leaving Washington Tuesday, Dulles told newsmen he hoped to make some progress in arranging a Big Four meeting with Russia on Germany.

The secretary spoke with reporters after conferring with President Eisenhower at the White House. He gave the impression he has in mind a conference sometime between April 2-4, when the Atlantic Pact powers meet in Washington, and May 27, the deadline set by the Soviet Union for handing the East German Communists control of Allied supply lines to West Berlin.

Dulles said he so far has settled on no specific new proposals to counter the Soviet demands that the Allies pull out of West Berlin and join in a 28-nation German peace conference. But Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), the incoming chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said after talking with the secretary Monday night, that Dulles was seriously considering a variety of counter-proposals.

No Rigid Plan Set

British diplomats said Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd certainly would discuss with Dulles "ideas for voluntary association" of West Germany.

Hawaii Bill Receives OK

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee today approved a bill to make Hawaii the 50th state in the Union. The vote was 25-4.

Rep. Leo W. O'Brien (D-N.Y.), acting committee chairman, said he hoped the House would pass the bill before the Easter recess starts March 26, or soon thereafter.

O'Brien predicted the Rules Committee would clear the legislation for action without undue delay. But he served notice Hawaii backers are prepared to by-pass the committee if it appears the bill may be frozen in the rules group.

U. S., Red Officers Hold Border Parley

HELMSTEDT, West Germany (AP)—An American and a Soviet army officer conferred at this frontier post today in an apparent effort to settle the dispute that has stranded an American military convoy inside satellite East Germany for two days.

The unidentified Soviet officers and an interpreter walked across the West German border for a 10-minute conference with the U.S. Military Police captain in charge of the American border checkpoint.

The Soviet officer then returned to the Soviet post opposite at Marienborn. The American, who declined to give his name to newsmen, drove to a nearby headquarters to report.

The four-truck convoy remained parked at Marienborn, within sight of the free West.

In temperature several degrees below freezing, five American soldiers spent a second uncomfortable night wrapped in blankets in four trucks parked alongside the autobahn. They had been stranded there since early Monday afternoon.

At daylight an officer from the U.S. Army detachment at Helmstedt walked the 200 yards to the men in Communist East Germany and took them hot coffee and breakfast.

U.S. military authorities considered the convoy stoppage the gravest incident since Moscow began its drive last November to oust the Western powers from West Berlin.

The United States repeatedly protested to Soviet army headquarters that the action was a breach of the Soviet Union's guarantee of free access to the city, given at the end of the 1948-49 blockade.

But there was no indication the Soviets would back down or that the United States would recall the trucks to West Berlin, as the Soviet border guards suggested.

"The Russians have said only that they will take the matter under consideration," a U. S. Army spokesman reported.

Private traffic along the autobahn continued uneventfully.

Housing, Airport Bills Blasted As Reckless Spending

By DAYTON MOORE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower challenged Democratic congressional leaders today to raise taxes if they pass costly housing and airport bills.

The President told a news conference that raising taxes would be the only straight forward thing to do if the Democratic leaders insist on what he called reckless spending programs such as their pending housing and airport construction bills.

He emphasized he does not believe the United States wants higher taxes unless there is some emergency which demands them.

The President opened his meeting with reporters by volunteering an attack on the Democratic housing and airport measures. Both call for much larger spending than his own programs.

Blasts Russians

In other highlights of his news conference the President:

—Said Russia's detention of five U.S. servicemen and four trucks at a check point west of Berlin is a violation of implied and explicit Four-Power agreements. He said this country is lodging a vigorous protest with the Soviet Union.

—Made clear he strongly opposes any extreme civil rights legislation. He said it would be wicked to set up a federal police force to see that citizens carry out their responsibilities as to school integration and other civil rights.

—Praised Virginia officials, parents and white students for the orderly manner in which school integration was started Monday in Arlington and Norfolk.

—Expressed skepticism at new Russian boasts of possessing intercontinental missiles with hydrogen warheads that can pinpoint targets in this country and which make U.S. weapons obsolete. He recalled the Russians in the past have bragged falsely that they invented the flying machine, automobile and telephone. He asked why their boasts on weapons should be believed in light of their unfulfilled claims about the other inventions. He called it propaganda.

Leaves For Georgia

—Noted there was an absolutely successful firing of a U.S. Atlas ICBM earlier today. He said it went a long way in a very good performance.

—With an over-all reference to U.S. and Russian relative military strength, he said this country has a much more balanced defense organization than the Russians. U.S. retaliatory power is good and cannot be knocked out by any single Russian surprise assault, no matter how massive.

The actress has been living in Beverly Hills since the couple separated. They were married Dec. 23, 1953 in New York City.

Says Edge Held By Russia Will Be Whittled Down

McElroy, elaborating on his way we do theirs" for potential testimony Tuesday before the House Armed Services Committee, said he was talking in terms of practical difference by the end of the year—"No more than one or two missiles, based on our judgments."

Famed Pilot Dies As Car Hits Another

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Jack Frye, 34, pioneer flier who helped build one of the world's largest air transport firms, died in a traffic accident Tuesday night.

A pilot with a flying record of 7,000 hours, Frye died when his car smashed into the side of a car that pulled into the road in front of him.

Sheriff's deputies said the impact hurled his body 40 feet. The other driver, identified as Rosa bell M. Wright, 42, Tucson, escaped with minor injuries.

Frye was president of Standard Airlines of Los Angeles in 1927 when the firm pioneered airline service to the East. He also was a pilot for the company and flew the first commercial airliners in to Phoenix and Tucson.

In 1930, Standard merged into the Western Air Express Corp., and later that year into Transcontinental and Western Airlines, now Trans World Airlines.

He became president of TWA in 1934 when it had a payroll of 600. When he left 13 years later, the firm was a 70-million-dollar operation with more than 17,000 employees.

The bill, introduced Tuesday by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), would apply the antitrust laws to all professional team sports and kill football's players draft.

At the same time, however, it would provide limited authority, subject to regulation by the Federal Communications Commission, for something long asked by minor league baseball — agreements to restrict broadcasting and telecasting of sports events.

The Supreme Court, while hinting that Congress should act, has declined to apply the antitrust laws to baseball. But in a series of other decisions it has held that other professional sports must operate under their restrictions.

Most baseball officials declined immediate comment, but Keating said he would fight the Kefauver bill. As a House member last year, Keating sponsored a bill which would have exempted most professional sports operations from the antitrust laws.

Passed by the House, the bill died in the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee headed by Kefauver.

That subcommittee is a branch of the Senate Judiciary Committee of which Keating now is a member.

Criticism of the Kefauver bill's effect on football's player draft came from Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League.

"Everyone's entitled to his opinion," Bell commented, but added: "Certainly I feel our players agree the draft is in their interest. The public seems to feel that way too."

Kefauver's bill would sanction baseball's reserve clause, which gives a club nearly complete control over a ballplayer, but would limit control to 80 players.

"This would give greater relief to minor leagues from the present practices under which major leagues control, directly or indirectly, as many as 450 players and player contracts," Kefauver said.

Rock 'n' Roll Stars Die As Plane Plunges

MOOREHEAD, Minn. (AP)—A group of young entertainers, saddened by the deaths of three singing stars of their troupe who were killed in a plane crash, staged a rock 'n' roll show Tuesday night to the delight of more than 2,000 screaming, whistling teenagers.

The three recording stars were killed early Tuesday when their four-place chartered plane crashed in a snow-covered field near Mason City, Iowa. They had just completed an engagement in Clear Lake, Iowa, and were headed for Fargo, N.D.

Others in the troupe took a chartered bus.

Dead in the crash were singers Buddy Holly, 22, of Lubbock, Tex.; Ritchie Valens, 17, of Los Angeles; and Jiles P. "Big Boy" Richardson, 28, of Beaumont, Tex., and the pilot, Roger Peterson, 21, of Clear Lake.

The show at Moorehead had been cancelled after other members of the troupe heard of the plane crash but later they decided to appear in the show-must-go-on tradition.

Two shows had been scheduled but only one was held. Members paid tribute to the victims during the performance. The crowd of teenagers screamed, clapped and whistled as the rock 'n' roll groups sang their best selling numbers.

CHICAGO (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said Britain had not drawn up any cut-and-dried plan for such an association but added the Foreign Office certainly has ideas on the subject.

Senior aides of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said the visit would clear the air of "unfounded" rumors that the Western powers are divided in their ideas about German reunification and Berlin.

Gates Will Quit Navy Post, Franke Picked As Successor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy will have a new secretary next June.

Thomas S. Gates, wartime Navy officer and secretary of the sea service since 1957, is quitting to return to private business.

William B. Franke, business executive turned specialist in government, has been nominated by President Eisenhower to move up from his present job as under secretary.

Gates, Philadelphia financier, left it known some months ago that he wanted to leave government and resume business affairs. Tuesday the White House announced Gates' resignation.

Named to move up to Franke's position is Fred A. Bantz, assistant secretary for material, a native of St. Paul, Minn., whose permanent home now is Paving, N.Y.

Both nominations are subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Franke's home is in Troy, N.Y. His first Washington assignment was as a member of a civilian panel in 1949-51 to advise the Army on auditing and spending controls.

Huge Craft

A temporary morgue was set up at a nearby Queens point, and survivors were rushed to Flushing Hospital. Seven were in critical condition.

A survivor, Herbert Forman, 36, of North Plainfield, N.J., told newsmen at Queens General Hospital he was leaning against a window looking at the lights of the city when:

"Just as we were about to land there was a sudden jolt and then an awful lot of noise, and we were in the water. It started rushing into the cabin, and I was completely submerged."

"Somebody Helped Me"

"Then I was floating in the water, and I don't know how, but with the help of somebody, I think it was the flight engineer, I was lifted to a wing."

"I had been sitting in the front of the ship, and I guess I was just lucky."

At the airport, a number of persons, several of them women in tears, waited in the airline lounge for word of survivors.

Among the missing was the pilot, Capt. Albert H. De Witt, of Decatur, Mich.

An official of the new Federal Aviation Agency said that "the last contact with the pilot was routine in nature."

Joseph D. Blatt, FAA regional administrator, said the plane was making a "standard instrument approach" to La Guardia from the northeast.

The last contact was made as the plane flew over a range station, 2.8 miles from the end of the runway.

"At this time, the pilot acknowledged clearance to land," Blatt said.

Normal altitude for the plane over the range station would have been 800 feet.

Blatt said the plane was coming in on one radio beam which told the pilot if he was directly in line with the runway.

The pilot did not have a second radio beam, which operates at the runway's other end and which would have indicated whether he

Century Club Garden Group Plans Tour

At a meeting last week of the Garden Group of the LaVale Century Club, plans were made to sponsor a tour to the International Flower Show in New York City.

Mrs. Lloyd Buchanan, chairman of the group, explained the itinerary of the tour, which would leave Cumberland early on March 11 and return the evening of March 13. The flower show, the United Nations, and Radio City Music Hall are among the places of interest offered to the group. In addition, Broadway show tickets may be secured for those interested.

The tour is open to members of the LaVale Century Club, The Garden Group of Cumberland, the LaVale Homemakers Club, and the Women's Civic club. All reservations should be in by March 1, and may be made by contacting Mrs. Buchanan. Walsh Named Head Of Study Commission

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—William C.
Walsh of Cumberland, former attorney general of Maryland, will be chairman of a commission to study legislative reapportionment,
Gov. Tawes said Tuesday.

Walsh also is a former judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals.
He headed a similar reapportionment study commission under former Gov. Lane.

The creation of the study commission stemmed from complaints of Baltimore City and the larger counties that they are inadequately represented in the House of Delegates.

Senator Hits SS Ruling In Commie Case

Says Court Goes Far Afield To Protect Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John
J. Williams (R-Del.) has assailed a Federal Court decision that persons deported for Communist activity can not be stripped of their social security benefits.

"This is just one more instance in which our courts are today going further and further in the protection of what they refer to as the "constitutional rights" of traitors and racketeers," Williams told the Senate yesterday.

"I suggest that it is high time that the courts also remember the rights of the 170 million law abiding American citizens."

Williams said the Justice Department will appeal the decision handed down Jan. 15 by U. S.
District Judge Edward A. Tamm
here. The case involved Ephram Nestor, who was deported to Bulgaria in 1956.

Tamm decided that Nestor was entitled to future monthly old age payment, plus the payments which had been withheld since he was deported.

Tamm held that benefits are vested property rights and can not be taken away arbitrarily by Congress. He ruled unconstitutional a 1956 amendment to the Social Security Act which cut off payments to those who are deported.

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union for ever.—Morris.

Not Deep Enough

LIKE ANY DEFEATED political organization, the Republican party has been almost continuously in the throes of self-examination since the last election. In the recent Des Moines meeting this inward look produced some sharp clashes over the issue of the GOP's difficulties. Both President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon told the party it has to make a better, steadier effort between elections if it wants to be rewarded at the polls. Rep. Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania snapped back that the White House could well follow this advice itself, saying the party needed to understand what it stood for so it could present a clearer image to the people.

IN LARGE MEASURE a dispute of this sort represents a cleavage between liberal and conservative viewpoints within Republican ranks. Probably this gap is not going to be closed, any more than are the northern-southern differences of the Democrats likely to be resolved. The one distinction is that with all their problems the Democrats are winning, while the Republicans are not. The latter have won just two of seven presidential elections from 1932 on, and two of 14 congressional elections in the same period. The two presidential victories were of course Mr. Eisenhower's. One of the congressional triumphs came in 1948, reflecting the voters' accumulated postwar gripes, and the other came narrowly in 1952 at the time of the President's initial success.

THE RECORD STRONGLY suggests, then, that the GOP has not had a real grip on the voters' hearts and minds for a long time. Today's arguments, naturally, go to the matter of why. Yet a detached onlooker, listening to the give and take, must fairly say that most of it has been said before, some of it, in fact, more than 20 years ago. It is very possible that the self-examination has not dug deep enough. This is a task only the Republicans can perform for themselves. Painful as it may be, they must realize in 1959 the penalty for not digging out the truth. It is written in the dismal statistics of their election showings for the past two and a half decades.

At Last—Progress

AMERICANS are heartened to hear from Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield that we may soon be transmitting mail by rocket. This means, of course, that immortal phrases like "having fine time" will go hurtling at record speed from joyous vacationers to languishing home towners. At least, that must be our hope. There has been a steady advance from the 1930's on in the speed of commercial aircraft bearing airmail. We went from the old Ford trimotors to the twin-engined jobs to four-engined ships, and now it's jets. But you can tap many a regular user of the airmail and you'll find him disappointed at the results of all this. We know one fellow who often sent an airmail special delivery letter from Tucson, Ariz., to Chicago back in the mid-1930's. If mailed by early afternoon it always reached its goal by 8 a. m. next day. Here we are, two and a half decades later, with great air advances. Yet you can pick a number of points separated by less than a third the distance from Tucson to Chicago and find that dependable overnight airmail special delivery is nonexistent. Yes, the rockets will be welcome in many quarters.

Self-Discipline

THE PHILOSOPHERS often suggest that, instead of worrying about the conquest of space, man should learn to conquer and discipline himself. This seems to have gotten through to Michel Perrigaud of Nantes, France. Perrigaud disciplined himself to such an extent that he succeeded in playing the harmonica for seven and a half hours while sitting on a chair which was balanced on three bottles. Dispatches do not say whether he first emptied the bottles in the French manner, but it was reported that Perrigaud claimed a world endurance record for having achieved this feat. We have no doubt that it was a record. We venture the prediction that no one else will soon play the harmonica any longer—not, at least, while sitting on a chair teetering on three bottles. This may be just as well. But the incident does prove that self-discipline still exists. For further proof, consider the neighbors who listened to Perrigaud all those hours and didn't dump him from his perch.

Foreign Affairs Switch Held Momentous

WASHINGTON — The sudden switch in the chairmanship of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee from 91-year-old Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island to 55-year-old William Fulbright of Arkansas may well prove to be the most momentous event of the current Congress.

The venerable Senator Green, personally one of the best-known and best-liked Senators in Washington, made a sacrifice in giving up his chairmanship which probably cannot be appreciated outside of this power-hungry town. Always noted for his liveliness and zest, it was not easy for Senator Green to give up such power and prestige in the face of impaired hearing and eyesight.

SENATOR Green announced that he had not resigned because of "slanted editorials." This was in reference to an editorial in one of his state's leading newspapers, The Providence Journal, which had called upon him to resign. That editorial took courage, too, and it no doubt helped set in motion the events which brought about the resignation.

The importance of the change in command of the Foreign Affairs Committee cannot be overestimated. It comes after an election in which most observers read a new demand for leadership. It comes also in a period in which there are signs of a thaw in the cold war.

The Senate has the constitutional obligation to advise with the President on matters of foreign policy. This it does largely through its Committee on Foreign Affairs. Under an active chairman it is capable of immense influence.

THE CHANGE in the chairmanship would have been important at any time. Coming now when the fixed pattern of our foreign policy is seemingly at a point at which changes, voluntary or forced, are about to be made, the Fulbright ascension cannot be overestimated.

On the face of it, there might appear to be no connection between the stepping down of Senator Green and the overthrow of former Republican Leader Joe Martin in the House. But it was there. The times, if nothing else, are demanding a change in the kind of ancestor worship which lies back of the seniority rules of the Congress.

CONGRESS has insisted in the laws governing the Civil Service on enforced retirement at 65. Yet very often members of Congress do not attain important and demanding chairmanships until long after that age. Senator Robertson of Virginia, who now succeeds Fulbright as Chairman of the Banking Committee, is 71, for example.

His colleague Senator Byrd, who is Chairman of the tax-writing Finance Committee, is also 71. Rep. Howard Smith, Chairman of the all-powerful Rules Committee of the House, is 76. None of this triumvirate of sensitive Virginians lists his age in the Congressional Directory.

SENATOR Hayden of Arizona, at 81, is Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, under normal circumstances the most arduous committee assignment of the Senate. Senator Murray of Montana is 82 and Chairman of the Interior Committee. In the House, Spence of Kentucky, at 85, is Chairman of Banking and Currency. Cannon of Missouri, Chairman of Appropriations, and Vinson of Georgia, Chairman of Armed Services, are both over seventy-five.

So They Say

In the United States, the educational edifice already has been seriously weakened by a creeping blight of congested classes, double shifts and inadequate instruction. Education, like peace, has become a world-wide problem.

PWA FUND APPROVED—Secretary Ickes announced the signing of a contract whereby the Public Works Administration will advance $5,411,866 to Maryland for the construction of roads.

NEW GOLD PRICE—The Treasury sets a new price on its gold holdings as a result of the president's action in reducing the dollar to 59.06 per cent of its gold weight and estimates its profit at slightly over $2,805,000,000. The result is that the daily statement of the nation's financial position shows a surplus for the first time since the early days of the depression.

STEEL MAKING GAINS—Officials of the steel industry, pointing out that automotive orders have strongly stimulated the industry, anticipate further work and orders from the nation's railroads, subject to financial arrangements with the PWA.

TO RELEASE ASSETS—The Cumberland branch of the Home Owners Loan Corporation in its first step to release frozen assets in Western Maryland banks asks the institutions to make up lists of their mortgages and submit applications for government loans.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — Having been brought up with a decent regard for doctors as able and sometimes skilled men totally prone to error and not creatures to be regarded with awe, I sometimes find this healthy point of view strained.

The straining is caused by some doctor's getting up in meeting, usually in England, and sounding off with what is palpably sheer nonsense. Today's case comes from England, a country which seems to breed vocal doctors, and is about as close to nonsense as you can come without getting a doubtful look indicating need for a psychiatrist.

ITEM: "Every adult shrinks about half an inch every 20 years."

Untrue. I was exactly six feet tall at 15, I am still exactly six feet tall today, just about 40 years later. I should be 5' 11" by this estimate. The statement says "every" adult. Not "some" adults.

Item: "At 20, learning begins to fall off."

Untrue. I can hear better today than I could at twenty-five. At 39 I had a severe ear infection. When it was cleared up, my hearing was about 20 per cent keener than it had been before and there seemed nothing wrong with it before.

ITEM: "At 40, the ability to see dimly-lit objects starts to diminish."

Untrue. I see as well today, at more than 50, as I did at 20 or 15 or 10. I have, fortunately, a kind of night vision. I have no trouble seeing in darkness or dim light, once my eyes have accustomed themselves to it. Obviously, you can't go suddenly from a brightly lighted room into darkness and focus immediately. I wear glasses only for close reading, meaning small type and a lot of it. Ordinary news-type or book-type is no problem.

Item: "At 50, there is a decline in the finer degrees of taste."

Untrue. I have a greater enjoyment of subtle flavors today than I had at, say, 40 and in the last seven years the increase

Right On The Line

NEW YORK — Our Air Force's favorite drink is becoming Geritol-on-the-rocks. Forty-one per cent of the nation's pilots, copilots and navigators are between the ages of 30 and Jack Benny.

The average age of SAC pilots is 36. Some on whose reflexes the country would have to depend in the event of all-out war are in their forties.

WILLIAM Leavitt, associate editor of "Air Force"—published by the Air Force Association—takes no alarmist view in pointing out the above.

The Air Force that has grown old is being kept young by perhaps the finest and most constant medical and psychological care known to mankind.

Gen. Curt Lemay, 52, makes the concession of wearing eyeglasses when he flies a supersonic fighter or takes over the controls of an eight million dollar B-52.

LEAVITT writes, "More often than is pleasant to note, personnel transferred from, say, SAC to a job in the Pentagon will fall prey to heart or stomach ailments that probably would not have come along in their old assignments."

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—Curbside comments of a Pavement Flauto:

Men invariably grow feeble with age. So, often, does their money.

Time waters down most currencies. This is happening in our own lives to the American dollar.

There is an old slang saying that "money talks," and it still does. But there was a time when the U.S. dollar didn't merely talk. It shouted in a voice admired—and feared—around the globe.

THIS IS NO longer quite so true. The "almighty dollar" no longer is almighty. It has developed laryngitis. While other currencies have been building up muscle—such as the Swiss franc, the German mark—the dollar has been losing weight.

If a man had lost as much weight, comparatively, as the dollar has, he would be in a hospital bed calling for blood transfusions and an oxygen tent.

Postwar inflation has swept all countries to varying degrees. The creeping inflation in the United States has gone on so steadily that it is only occasionally we are sharply reminded that, while we have more money in our pockets now, it doesn't have the same value.

Here are two recent examples that made me sharply nostalgic for the dollar that was a dollar.

A LADY IN OUR office casually remarked that it now cost her $2.25 merely to park her car in a midtown Manhattan lot during working hours. Remember when a traveling man could get a good hotel room for $2 a night—and they parked the car free?

A panhandler hit me up. Scratching in my pockets, I found only 23 cents in change—and gave it to him with an apology.

"Don't you have a buck you can spare?"

Inflation waters down not only a people's currency; it also waters down their dreams. Its terrible cost is paid least by the shiftless grasshopper, most by the thrifty ant—and thereby it violates the morality behind all sensible living.

Inflation doesn't wait for posterity to present its bill. It presents its bill now, too, and the hard-earned dollar a man saved yesterday to buy himself comfort tomorrow is spent to keep himself afloat in the high-priced world of today.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—Having read somewhere that power tends to corrupt, and absolute power corrupts absolutely, I was deeply concerned the other day when Prince Rainier suspended Monaco's constitution and set himself up as absolute ruler. I couldn't bear the thought of Grace Kelly's husband being corrupted because he doesn't have much space in which to be corrupt.

Grace's spouse may be corrupting himself on a small scale, but it's the principle that counts, not the principality. Anyway, I worked myself into a microscopic tower of indignation, and might have tried to organize a "Free Monte Carlo from the Tyrant" movement, except that I ran into a group of warriors who were already so sore at Rainier that I decided His-Highness had ill-wishers enough.

HOW I ENCOUNTERED this group is a mighty uninteresting story in itself, and try to stop me telling it, if you can.

I had gone to the Capitol to cover the missile hearings, but after a while I got mixed up with so much miscellaneous talk. I got the Regulus in a snark with the Hercules, and the Matador going holy jumping Jupiter with the Polaris, on your Bomarc, get set, go.

To return to earth from so much space that even the thought of Monaco gave me claustrophobia, I went to the Senate restaurant where Senators Frank Church, of Idaho, and John Carroll, of Colorado, were having lunch with M. E. Clifton James, the English character actor who fooled German intelligence by masquerading as General Montgomery in the war.

I left this charming company and ran into John T. "Jake" Carlton, executive director of the Reserve Officers Association of the United States, an outfit which is composed of men on active duty, as well as inactive. With Mr. Carlton were a glistening array of high brass, including Admiral Leon Jacoby, U.S.N. retired.

"It's a good thing Prince Rainier isn't here," declared Mr. Carlton with bewildering lack of preliminary. "The Reserve Officers deplore him."

"They feel he's too absolute?" I inquired.

"An absolute drizzle," said Mr. Carlton. "Admiral Jacoby has just returned from Monaco. Ask him."

I did. This is the story of why the iron has entered the Reserve Officers' souls.

SOMEBODY in the organization conceived the corruscating idea of making the Prince an honorary U.S. Reserve Officer. This required almost as drastic a suspension of the by-laws as Rainier's suspension of the constitution because His Highness hasn't served any discernible time in the U.S. armed forces.

Feelers were put out, and word came from Monte Carlo that Grace Kelly's husband would accept the honor, and show his appreciation by giving a big reception for those honoring him.

High officers on duty all over Europe flew to Monaco, which was what they had in mind in the first place. The tiny resort swarmed with U.S. generals and admirals.

"We left with a very bad impression of Prince Rainier," reported Admiral Jacoby.

"Didn't he look good to you?" I asked.

"We never so much as laid eyes on him—or Grace either. And there was no smell of a reception. He sent his chief of police to accept the presentation."

Lad Killed By Gunshot

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 5-year-old boy was killed at his home in suburban Middle River yesterday when a shotgun fired by his older brother accidentally fired.

Dennis George was pronounced dead on arrival at Johns Hopkins Hospital. The hospital said the child was shot through the heart from behind.

Police said the brother, 11-year-old Charles, told them he took the gun away from Dennis and reprimanded the youngster for having taken it from the closet.

Charles told police he then pointed the weapon at Dennis "to scare him" and the child ran out the kitchen door. The gun went off and the impact threw Dennis to the ground.

Poor Drivers Liability To Safe Autoists

15,000 In State Cost $3 Million In Insurance Aid

BALTIMORE (AP)—A relatively small group of Maryland drivers who are considered poor auto insurance risks cost other drivers in the state an estimated three million dollars during the last four years.

Insurance companies actually look the loss for some 15,000 drivers licensed in Maryland who belong to the Maryland Automobile Assn. risk plan.

These drivers cost the companies three million dollars more than they paid in premiums. However, the loss was added to the amount the average motorist pays annually for his liability and property damage insurance.

Every firm selling auto liability insurance in Maryland must belong to the assigned risk plan, which provides coverage for motorists with such bad driving records that no company will insure them.

Poor risks are assigned to the 225 member companies in the order in which they apply for insurance. Each company must insure assigned risks in proportion to its business volume.

Figures compiled by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters show that Maryland has one of the top five loss ratios in the nation.

The loss ratio is a comparison of premiums with claims.

Deputy Insurance Commissioner John H. Coppage said one solution is to cut down on accidents by getting tough on auto licenses and suspensions.

While Maryland drivers support a high loss on assigned risk insurance, the State carries one of the most lenient laws for suspension or revocation of licenses.

This was the opinion of Motor Vehicles Commissioner James B. Monroe, who has made a study of the various state motor vehicle laws.

The Maryland statute requires the Department of Motor Vehicles to revoke for 90 days the licenses of persons convicted of seven violations.

These are manslaughter, driving under the influence of liquor or drugs; committing a felony with the use of a motor vehicle; failure to render assistance in an accident, involving a death or injury; perjury or signing a false affidavit relating to ownership or operation of a motor vehicle; turning off lights to avoid identification and operating a motor vehicle after a license was suspended, refused or canceled.

The law requires the department to suspend licenses for persons who fail to meet the requirements of the financial responsibility law, who refuse or fail to pay damages in accidents involving motor vehicles and who are convicted twice as minors within one year of violating traffic laws.

Minors with suspended licenses face revocation of their licenses if they are convicted a third time.

Drivers with suspended licenses may pick up their licenses after the suspension period providing they are not guilty of subsequent violations.

However, drivers with revoked licenses must apply to the Department of Motor Vehicles in order to regain their licenses.

Bill Aiding Witnesses To Crimes Backed At Pittsburgh

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A Legis- lative committee Tuesday boosted along a bill aimed at keeping in- nocent but poor people out of jail. Those concerned are people who witness crimes but are put behind bars because they are unable to post bond guaranteeing their ap- pearance in court. The House Judiciary Committee unanimously approved a bill pro- viding that any witness jailed in- stead of bond must be released af- ter seven days unless the State's attorney petitions the circuit court for longer confinement. The circuit court hearing on the written petition would be under- rules to be set by the Court of Appeals, and the judge would be responsible for insuring a prompt trial.

Pair Killed In Cave-in At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Two men were killed and a third was buried for several hours Tuesday when tons of earth fell on them in a sewer cave-in on the South Side. The dead were Kenneth May, 38, Carrick, and Albert Tucker, 23, Coraopolis. Giulio Colasante, 40, West Homeslead, was rescued in a dramatic effort by police, firemen and volunteers who struggled with the loose earth for about four hours. Colasante was in South Side Hospital where he was re- ported in satisfactory condition with possible fractures of the ribs and shoulder. The survivor was protected by shoring boards which collapsed under the weight of the earth and debris that poured over the workmen.

Hearing Set On Coal, Gas Severance Tax Measure

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Only two bills were up for vote on passage today in the West Vir- ginia Legislature as attention cen- tered on public hearing tonight on a controversial measure to im- pose a severance tax on coal and other natural resources. The hearing was scheduled for 7 p.m. in the House chamber. The House Finance Committee set it up and Chairman Julius Singleton (D-Monongalia) said representa- tives of several segments of in- dustry had asked for time to be heard. Several delegates are ex- pected to support the bill. It would set a tax on units of production of coal, gas, oil, tim- ber, etc., and has approval of a majority of the 83 Democrats in the House. Liquor legislation made its per- ennial appearance today. Two separate constitutional amend- ments—giving voters an "all-or- nothing at all" choice on liquor—were introduced in resolutions of- fered by Del. J. E. Watson (D- Marion). One would allow over- the-bar liquor sales, the other would outlaw whisky sales. During formal afternoon ses- sions, the Senate had at vote stage a measure to create a se- parate judicial circuit for Nicholas County while the House had up at final reading a bill to provide that excess toll bridge collections be channeled into the state sec- ondary road fund. Nine bills were passed by the House and one by the Senate Tuesday. One of the House approved measures went to the governor for signature. It was the eighth bill approved by both chambers dur- ing the first 21 days of their 60- day session. It would increase li- cense fees of public utilities from $300,000 to $450,000 annually for support of operation of the Pub- lic Service Commission. Delegates approved the measure, which would become effective next July 1, by an 85-9 vote. The other measures were sent to the Senate for concurrence. They would: —Create a new judicial circuit for Hancock County. —Set up new methods for the paroling of convicts. —Increase the fee for a "pack- age" beer license fee. —Require the Road Commission to survey rural roads every four years to determine which ones merit inclusion in the state road system. The last measure was similar to one adopted by the 1937 Legis- lature but vetoed by Gov. Cecil B. Underwood. "Hams" could have plate letters corresponding to the call letters of their radio stations. The Senate passed 31-0 and sent to the House for concurrence a measure which would require county boards of education to set up a monthly payday for school teachers. Under present law they are paid after each 20 days of in- struction. The House also adopted a reso- lution allowing its Rules Commit- tee to invoke a special calendar after Feb. 25. The committee has the authority to pick the bills re- ported out of committees which it feels merit consideration. The others remain on the regular cal- endar and normally would not be acted upon unless delegates de- feat a motion to adjourn, which

"What price bigamy prevention?" a group of delegates asked Tuesday. The House Judiciary Committee felt a bill to tighten marriage laws would put too heavy a burden on court clerks. The delegates vir- tually killed the bill with a 15-4 vote for an unfavorable report. Capt. C. G. Halpine, superin- tendent of public buildings and grounds, noted at a House com- mittee hearing Tuesday that bud- get officials had eliminated his re- quest for $7,500 to continue a pro- gram of restoring Statehouse paintings. Chairman Boone (D-Balto Coun- ty) asked how many paintings were still untouched. Halpine said some 15 or 20 are in storage but the most valuable ones have been cleaned up, plus those specifi- cally requested by past governors. "In other words, during the past eight years you've been cleaning up Republican portraits," said Boone, referring to ex-Gov. Mc- Keldin's Republican administra- tion. Arbitration Seen Ending Glass Strike

Union Head States Locals Approved Settlement Program

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Ralph Riiser, president of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union, said today the 118-day strike against the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. may be settled by arbitration.

"All of the local unions approved arbitrations as a means of settling the strike," the international union president said on his return here to resume negotiations with the company following a six-day recess in talks.

"The fact that arbitration now is a factor means it may become a reality—and possible settlement of the strike."

Discuss Proposals

"We're now in a position, with membership approval, to consider fully the issues on hand, and to settle them if possible. The membership also has given us authority to turn over to arbitration matters which can't be settled at the bargaining table," Riiser said.

Riiser said the union met this morning "to run through the various proposals" in what could be a step to arbitration.

"We came back after discussing the matter with our local unions, and now we want to discuss our findings among ourselves," Riiser said. "We have a meeting scheduled tentatively at 2 p.m. with management."

One week ago, the union offered to arbitrate what it termed all unresolved issues, numbering 11. The company replied with arbitration for six issues, conceding several already were settled.

Riiser said that acceptance of the arbitration with membership approval was not to be considered "that we're folding."

Recessed Thursday

The negotiations recessed declared last Thursday was against the wishes of federal negotiators and was a surprise to the company. Riiser announced that the union negotiators wanted the six-day recess so that the company's latest proposal could be taken back to the locals.

Some 13,000 glass workers walked out of the company plants last Oct. 5 and a resultant windshield shortage forced the Chrysler Corp. to furlough some 15,000 employees several weeks ago.

Federal mediator Robert Donahoe said he was disappointed when the union announced the recess because "the talks were so close to a settlement."

Donald J. Sherbondy, company director of industrial relations, said he was "completely surprised" when the union announced the recess.

Church Plans Annual Event

Preliminary plans are being outlined for the annual spaghetti supper to be served Sunday, March 1, at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

General chairman of the affair are Rev. Charles W. Bogan, pastor, and Joseph F. Divico, while the co-chairmen are Michael P. McDade and Thomas E. Carroll.

Divico announced this morning that the supper will be served from 1 to 7 p. m. in the parish hall.

"The affair has been held for more than 30 years by the parish. The meal is prepared by the women of Italian ancestry in the Cumberland area. Divico pointed out that although other women of the parish assist with serving the meal and other duties, all of the spaghetti is prepared by Italians."

Proceeds of the affair will be turned over to the parish's building fund. Father Bogan announced last week that steps are being taken to construct a new school, convent and rectory for the parish.

Divico said a general meeting will be held this Sunday at 9 p. m. in the parish hall to discuss arrangements for the supper. All persons interested in helping with the affair should attend.

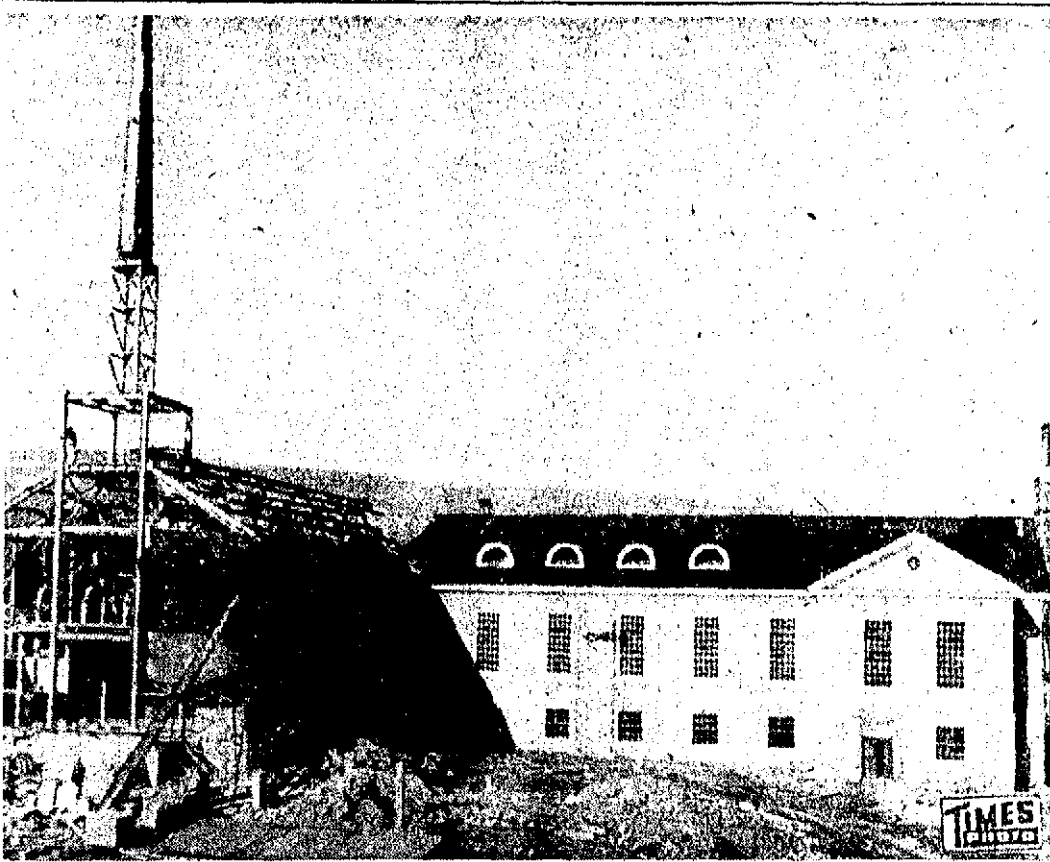

Couple Injured In Auto Wreck

A young local couple was hospitalized last night following a two-car accident on Thomas Street.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital was Clarence Lee Ritchie, 21, of 126 Bedford Street, and his wife, Mrs. Jean Ritchie, 18. Attaches today reported both in "good" condition. Ritchie sustained a fractured knee, cuts and bruises and a fractured nose, while his wife suffered a fracture of her right leg and a deep laceration of the right eye.

Sgt. Clarence Roby and Officer Clarence Valentine who investigated the case, said Ritchie was driving his car on Thomas Street when he lost control and struck a utility pole.

Police said the pole was snapped off, and the car was demolished.

CHURCH WORK PROGRESSES — The view above shows the new church and educational building of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Washington Street, which is under construction. At the left in the picture can be seen the canvas shelter with clear plastic windows which is used during the extremely cold weather to allow workmen to continue. Use of the shelter has speeded the work which otherwise would not have been completed due to the bad weather. The church and educational building is being erected on the site of the old Roman home. The George F. Hazelwood Company is doing the work.

Corporation Formed For Broadcasting

A new corporation has been formed for broadcasting purposes. The files of the State Tax Commission list it as the Allegany County Broadcasting Company.

According to the certificate filed with the commission, the directors are Hollis M. Seavey and Anne M. Seavey of Washington and Edward H. Bradford, no address listed.

The three incorporators are Milton E. Hartley, Robert M. Dougherty and George A. Fisher, all of the Corporation Trust, Inc., Washington.

The resident agent is listed as the Corporation Trust, Inc., 10 Light Street, Baltimore.

Attempts to uncover the proposed operation were made today, but the attorney for the company said no details could be released at this time.

In another transaction involving radio, the Cumberland Valley Broadcasting Corporation has taken an option on about ten acres of land near Westernport to erect a tower.

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., attorney for the company which operates WTBO in Cumberland, said the purchase of the land depends on obtaining approval from the Federal Communications Commission.

Former Police Officer Fined

James J. Mason, former city police officer, was fined a total of $30 and costs on two motor vehicle charges this morning in Trial Magistrate Court.

Magistrate Morris Baron fined Mason $15 on a charge of reckless driving and $15 on a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign. However, a third charge, operating a motor vehicle with tags issued to another car, was dismissed by the magistrate for lack of evidence.

Mason, through his attorney, Harold Naughton, entered pleas of not guilty to all three charges. The charges were placed against the former city officer after his arrest by State Police on Sunday, January 25.

Mason was picked up by State Police for an alleged assault on Miss Eleanor Williams January 25 on West Second Street.

Manslaughter Case Scheduled

A hearing will be given Harry B. Kyle, 24, of near Lonaconing, on Saturday at 9:15 a. m. before Magistrate Morris Baron on a charge of manslaughter by automobile.

Kyle is accused of being the driver of the car which crashed January 16 on State Route 36 near Barton and fatally injuring Richard B. Wilson of Barton. Kyle was badly injured himself in the accident and only recently was discharged from Potomac Valley Hospital at Keyser.

Kyle will be represented by Milton Gersen, local attorney.

Counter Proposal Made On Movie Censor Bill

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A counter-proposal has been injected into the Legislature's forthcoming dispute over movie censorship.

A group of 10 delegates proposed yesterday that police and the courts be empowered to decide whether movies shown persons under 18 are obscene rather than letting the state censor board ban them in advance. Del. Whitmore (D-Anne Arundel), one of its leading sponsors, said he was "bitterly opposed" to placing the matter in the hands of State censors, who he said are a "dying breed."

Something Must Be Done

"I'm opposed to censorship," said Whitmore, "but at the same time I realize something has to be done to raise the whole caliber of movies being shown to youngsters. I think this bill offers a satisfactory answer."

The bill would make it unlawful for any person to knowingly exhibit to a minor under the age of 18, a motion picture which is obscene or "the tendency of which is to corrupt morals." Conviction could bring a fine of $100 and/or imprisonment up to 30 days.

Movie theater operators said at a public hearing last year they would not be as opposed to such a measure as they would to placing the matter in the hands of the State censor board.

A similar bill to let the censor board license certain films unfit for viewing by persons under 18 has been introduced in both houses of the Legislature this year with 29 sponsors in the House and 19 in the Senate.

Confuses Uses

Del. McNeal (D-Balto 3rd), chief sponsor of the House bill, could not be reached for comment on the new proposal but Sen. Bertorelli (D-Balto 1st), leading the fight in the Senate, called it an attempt "to confuse the issue and to delay passage of the true movie censorship bill."

"At least its sponsors could have waited until after the joint hearing scheduled next week on our bill if they have a real desire to keep children away from such pictures."

"This is purely a tactical maneuver, to create a false air of cooperation with the persons who seriously want to remove this menace to our children."

Would Be Club

Whitmore said the new bill offers a club to be held over the head of the movie industry and theater operators to make them police their own industry.

"It could raise the whole caliber of our movies and place responsibility for them right where it belongs," he said.

In calling State censor boards a "dying breed," Whitmore said only four states still have them "and they're being hauled before the Supreme Court repeatedly."

The four states are Kansas, New York, Virginia and Maryland. Whitmore said he understands the Kansas Legislature now has under consideration a bill to abolish its board.

A public hearing is scheduled before the House and Senate judiciary committees Feb. 11 on the bill calling for State censor board screening. The alternate proposal will probably be taken up at the same time.

Camper Club To Meet

An important meeting of the Allegany Camper Club will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the school auditorium, according to John Yoder, president.

County Agent Maude A. Bean Death Victim

Miss Maude A. Bean, 78, who was home demonstration agent in Allegany County for a quarter of a century upon her retirement in 1951, died Tuesday at David City, Neb.

Miss Bean assumed the post of home demonstration agent here May 26, 1925 and served until October 20, 1951 when she retired. Prior to coming to Allegany County she taught school in Nebraska and also served as a home demonstration agent.

She was the fourth home demonstration agent of the county, with the position having been created in 1914. Mrs. L. H. Powell was the first agent. Others were Miss Bess Volk and Mrs. Rhea (Morgan) Galloway.

Miss Bean was responsible for building the program of the Extension Service of the University of Maryland in Allegany County so successfully that this county had the largest number of women attending the annual Rural Women's Short Course at the university each summer.

She also aided in organizing many Homemakers clubs throughout the county and helped in the promotion of the home economics displays at the Cumberland Fair.

After her retirement she stayed here for some time, finally moving back to her native Nebraska. A brother, Frederick, and two sisters who live in California are among the survivors.

Magistrate Jails Man On Motor Counts

George Lester Beeman Must Serve Year; Also Fined $100

A 58-year-old local man, with a long criminal record, received two separate jail sentences this morning in Trial Magistrate's Court.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick sentenced the man to one year in the Maryland House of Correction on a charge of carrying a concealed and deadly weapon, six months on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and fined him $100 and costs on a charge of operating a motor vehicle on a revoked license. The time is to be served concurrently.

The man, George Lester Beeman Sr., of 608 Virginia Avenue, was arrested last night by Cpl. Harry S. Bosley and Trooper R. H. Graham of the Maryland State Police.

Cpl. Bosley, who placed the charges against the man, informed the court this morning that Beeman was arrested while driving a stolen car belonging to James Langley, of 52 Boverly Street, Frostburg.

Stolen Last Saturday

Police said Langley reported his automobile stolen this past Saturday night and that information was received that the car was parked on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company property.

State Police on Monday placed a stake-out on the vehicle and last night was the first time they stopped Beeman driving the car. When arrested he was carrying a .32 special. Cpl. Bosley said. The man pleaded guilty to all three charges and admitted driving the car approximately 200 miles since the theft.

Cpl. Bosley in his testimony pointed out that Beeman has a long criminal record and at one time was sentenced to 20 years on an armed robbery charge. The arrest of Beeman cleared the "stolen car" docket at the LaVale barracks and marked the fifth car recovered by State Police in three days.

Started Monday

On Monday, Trooper Harry J. Garcia made three arrests on U. S. Route 40 involving stolen cars and earlier last night State Police found another car stolen in Morgantown, W. Va.

Trooper Garcia first arrested two boys, one 16 and the other 17, on Town Hill Mountain. The boys had stolen the car in Baltimore and were headed westward when the trooper nabbed them. Both boys are being held in the detention quarters at the Allegany County Infirmary.

Later the trooper took into custody an escapee from a medium security prison at Muttons, Va., after he had wrecked the car he stole.

The escapee, Robert W. Johnson, 19, is being held in the Allegany County Jail for West Virginia authorities.

Later in the evening State Police found a car stolen in Markleysburg, Pa., abandoned at Eckhart.

The lots are situated behind and above the present market, are partly in a Residential A zoning district, and are owned by Howell.

Harold Shaner, 500 Park Street, made applications to build on part of Lots 6, 7 and 8 of Myrtle Street, Eichner Addition.

The building would be one-story, with a concrete block foundation and frame and aluminum walls. The lots are owned by H. D. Robertson, and Shaner is listed as the prospective owner.

Two Fined $3,000 For Sale Of Deer

Two Hancock area men last night were convicted of illegally selling and possessing deer meat, and wardens said they drew the heaviest fines ever assessed for game law violations in Maryland.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said the defendants, Donald Thompson and Norman Trail, were tried by Magistrate Jesse Shank in Williamsport and fined a total of $3,000.

NEW KELLY OFFICER — William H. Osburn Jr. has been appointed vice president in charge of finance and operating of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. He came here in January of 1958 from Goodyear-Mexico, the Mexican subsidiary of Goodyear International Corporation. He has been with Goodyear for 17 years. Osburn and his wife and son reside on Delhaven Road.

Report On Buying The state's witnesses were Charles Green, district game warden of Baltimore County, who acted as a special investigator, and Carl Plant, a special investigator for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

According to Plant and Green, they purchased two deer from the defendants on December 28, three on January 23, and five on January 29. They said they paid $25 for average-sized deer and $30 for the large ones.

The two officers testified the defendants also delivered several more deer to them in Winchester and added they will face federal charges for violation of the Lacey Act, transporting illegal game from one state to another. Minke stated the cases grew out of evidence that there was considerable night hunting going on in the Hancock area last fall. District Game Warden Lawrence Fiorina informed Minke at the time that he was unable to cope with the operation due to its scale.

Many Participants

The wardens believe that there were from ten to 15 persons engaged in the hunting, but said only the two defendants were doing the selling.

District Game Wardens David Gross of Shropshire and Claude Clime of Hagerstown were assigned to this area, and succeeded in apprehending several spotlight hunters.

But Minke added that the illegal hunting continued during the day as well as night, and the wardens suspected the deer were being sold, as a score must have been killed, according to the evidence they could find.

Thompson, a furloughed Fairchild Aircraft Company employee, works part-time as a butcher in a Hancock market. Trail is unemployed, Minke said.

James F. Surine, Hagerstown, Washington County State's attorney, assisted in the prosecution.

Thompson was represented by Howard Kaylor, former Washington County State's attorney. Kaylor indicated an appeal would be filed, and furnished bond in the amount of $4,000.

The report also showed that the members' savings rose from $2,012.80 to $1,498.74 and the outstanding loans rose from $2,106.75 to $1,498.54.

MORGANTOWN — The Internal Revenue Service is how accepting income tax returns of farm people. Where two-thirds or more of income is from farming, February 16 is the deadline. Kenneth P. Brundage, Extension farm management specialist at West Virginia University, reminded Mountain State farmers today.

Earnings for use in Social Security payments are determined on Income Tax Schedule F, Brundage said. Where sales of $500 or more of farm products have been made, a return is required. The figure of $500 is also the possible starting place for Social Security eligibility. For this reason, most farm folks will want to send in their tax return.

County agricultural agents throughout West Virginia have a limited supply of the "Farmer's Tax Guide" available for free distribution. Brundage pointed out. This bulletin, prepared by the Internal Revenue Service, answers many of the questions that arise in making farm income tax returns. "Check with your local Agricultural Extension Service office if you have need for this information," the Extension specialist suggested.

Evangelism Week Slated

RICHWOOD, W. Va. — A "Week of Evangelism," sponsored by the Council of Evangelism of the Methodist Church, will be observed in Methodist churches throughout the West Virginia Conference, February 8-15.

The emphasis is scheduled at the same time as Methodist's annual Week of Dedication.

"Dedication and witnessing go hand in hand," said Rev. Fred Oxendale of Richwood, secretary of Evangelism of the Methodist Church.

West Virginia Conference, in announcing the week, "Having the two observances simultaneously should help our churches to broaden their outreach as they deepen their spiritual power."

"Many Methodist churches in the West Virginia Conference will be having home visitation, daily preaching services and other evangelistic activities," Oxendale concluded.

Church Opposes Liquor By Drink

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia's Methodist Conference opposes a proposed referendum on the liquor-by-the-drink issue, according to the Rev. Joseph Casey, chairman of the Section on Temperance of the Conference Board of Christian Social Relations.

Casey said today his group met recently in Clarksburg and decided that if the question were to be included in a referendum it would "inevitably be rigged in favor of the alcoholic beverage industry."

"The people should be given an opportunity to consider the whole question of the unlimited sale of beer and wine as well as distilled spirits, otherwise it will not be a fair election," the statement said.

The conference called on the legislature to "reject any such proposal when presented at a regular session of that body or at a special session, and that the present restrictions be maintained."

Fire Damages Dogwood Flat Section Home

BARTON — Four members of a Barton family were left homeless yesterday when a fire swept through their six-room frame dwelling located in the Dogwood Flat section of the community.

Lewis L. Smith and his wife managed to save only a few items of clothing as flames spread rapidly through the burning building. They have two sons, aged nine and 12.

All of the furnishings and personal belongings of the family were destroyed in the fire.

Volunteer firemen trained water on a dwelling located about 20 feet from the burning home and managed to keep the fire from spreading to the nearby house.

Fire Chief James Lamberson of Barton Hose Company 1, said volunteers from three other companies fought the blaze which was discovered about 3:45 p. m. when Smith noticed that the rear of a small room adjoining the kitchen was in flames.

Assistance Needed
Smith and his wife attempted to put out the blaze but it had too much of a head start. Firemen of Barton, who received a call about 3:50 p. m., said the flames had such a start they couldn't "knock the fire down." They responded with two pumpers, a tank truck and an equipment truck.

After arriving on the scene, Barton firemen radioed to Midland volunteers for assistance.

Volunteers of McCool and Clarysville also were called. Since Lonaconing is not equipped with a tank truck, that company was not summoned, Chief Lamberson pointed out.

He said firemen were hampered by a lack of water and had to rely on supplies of water in tank trucks and pumps. A hydrant is located in the vicinity, Chief Lamberson said, but the water pressure was so low the firemen were unable to make good use of the supply.

Chief Lamberson said that Mrs. Smith had to try three times to call firemen before getting a line, because the Smith's party line was in use.

Loss Partially Covered
He said the fire apparently started in a sidearm heater of a hot water tank located in the small room adjoining the kitchen.

During the fire, a pumpster from Frostburg stood by at Shalt while volunteers of that community stood by in Midland. This procedure is part of the Civil Defense program in the county, firemen said.

Smith, who is employed at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, said the home was covered by about $3,500 worth of insurance, while the furniture was insured for about $2,000. The damage to the home and furnishings far exceeds the insurance coverage, he said.

For the present, the Smith family will reside at the home of a neighbor, firemen said.

Church To Aid Negro Colleges

FAIRMONT — Dr. T. Leroy Hooper, executive secretary of the Methodist West Virginia Conference Board of Education, announced that the Methodist Church has set a goal of $1 million for its 12 Negro colleges in a church-wide offering to be taken Sunday.

The 1,600 Methodist churches of the West Virginia Conference will be asked to observe that date as "Race Relations Sunday" and earmark offerings for the schools, Dr. Hooper said.

"In view of the ever-increasing enrollment of our Negro colleges, the financial situation in several of these schools in the South has reached crisis proportions, and church-wide support of them is needed more than ever before," he stated.

The colleges have an enrollment of more than 8,600 students. They now own property worth $15 million and have endowments totaling another $10 million. At least $6 million is needed for new buildings and equipment.

"When reached, the goal of $1 million from 'Race Relations Sunday' offerings will allow the Methodist Church to claim several additional millions of dollars from foundations and individuals who are concerned about higher education for Negroes in the South," Dr. Hooper said.

"We know that the churches of the West Virginia Conference will do their share in this important cause," he concluded.

The "Race Relations Sunday" offering reached the highest point in its 18-year history in 1958 with a national total of $355,456.

Auburn Runs Victory Skein To 26 Games

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press International

The Auburn Plainsmen may look like a bunch of crazy engineers building a four-lane highway that ends in the middle of the Sahara desert, but that isn't stopping them from winning basketball games.

Auburn, the nation's only major unbeaten team, built the country's longest winning streak to 26 games Tuesday night by whipping Georgia Tech, 51-40, in a semi-slowdown game at Atlanta—thus also clinging to first place in the Southeastern Conference.

Of course, even if Auburn can win all its seven remaining games to complete a perfect season it won't earn a darn thing in post-season play. That's because all Auburn teams are barred by NCAA edict from post-season competition on football recruiting charges.

Easy Victory
Ed Coach Joel Hayes' merry men made Georgia Tech their 15th victim of the current campaign in fairly easy fashion. After leading by only 25-20 at halftime, the Plainsmen opened a nine-point gap with 11:36 remaining and breezed home, Henry Hart led the way with 18 points.

The most important date looming on the horizon for Auburn could be Feb. 21, for that's the night on which they meet nationally top-ranked Kentucky at Lexington, Ky. That one could be the "tell" on a perfect season.

North Carolina State, the No. 5 team in the nation, ran its season record to 15-2 by trouncing Virginia, 87-70, at Charlottesville, Va., in a rough game marked by 44 personal fouls. Bob McGallivray of N. C. State and George Metzger of Virginia each had 17 points. State is in second place in the Atlantic Coast Conference, behind second-ranked North Carolina.

West Virginia Beats Pitt
Tenth-ranked West Virginia, the unbeaten pacemaker of the Southern Conference, stepped outside that loop Tuesday night to beat Pittsburgh, 73-64, and push its season record to 17-3. All-American candidates Jerry West of West Virginia and Don Henson of Pittsburgh each scored only 16 points, as Bucky Bolyard of West Virginia gained scoring honors with 22 points. It was the 30th straight home court victory for West Virginia and its 10th straight anywhere this year.

Texas Christian, leader of the Southwest Conference, kept rolling along the road to the NCAA tournament by beating Texas A&M, 76-64, to move its league record to 6-1. The Frogs opened a 16-point lead during the first half and won eased up.

Maccabees Seek 12th Win Today

Three more contests are slated today in the American Division of the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League on the "Y" bards with Maccabees (11-1) opposing Centre Street Methodist (4-8) in the opener at 5 o'clock.

South Cumberland Salvation Army (0-12) tangles with Potomac Park EUB (9-2) at 6 o'clock while First Presbyterian (5-7) meets Kingsley Methodist (5-6) an hour later.

Emmanuel Methodist trimmed LaVale Methodist in yesterday's only action, 34-20, in a game that was close for three quarters. The quintets were tied, 15-15, at intermission with LaVale moving on top, 20-16, at the third-quarter mark.

Reynolds and Snyder led the winners with 13 and 10 markers while LaVale was limited to eight goals.

Lions Meet Keyser In PVC; Maphis Reaches 400 Mark

Lions Meet Keyser In PVC; Maphis Reaches 400 Mark

Keyser High and Piedmont, still harboring little ambitions in the Potomac Valley Conference basketball race, tangled tonight at Keyser in their first meeting this season.

The Golden Tornado trails pacing Franklin with an 8-1 mark while Piedmont is in third place with a 6-2 showing. The Panthers are unbeaten in league play with a 9-0 while Romney holds third place with its 10 triumphs in a dozen games.

Unbeaten in MCL
Keyser has won 10 of 12 starts for the season while the Lions have taken 10 of 14 overall. Both quintets are also in the Mineral County League with Keyser on top with a 4-0 mark. The Lions have split in four appearances.

Another PVC fray is billed at Paw Paw where the Pirates will play host to Fort Ashby. The Bucs have a 6-3 PVC record while the Eagles are 6-4 in the circuit.

The clash is their second with the Eagles having taken the opener, 56-51. Romney grabbed its 10th PVC conquest and its third in a row last night with an 88-61 clobbering of Capon Bridge on the Bobcats' hardwoods while Moorefield continued its comeback with a 68-50 decision over Circleville at home.

Maphis Reaches 400
Bill Maphis, who entered the game as runnerup to Ridgeley's Bill Scott for the scoring lead of the district, became the leader and first cager to hit 400 points when he dropped in 23 for the Panthers last night.

The lanky, six-three junior has an even 400 markers for 14 games, giving him a 28.6 average. Roscoe Dean hooped 17 while Dave Kirk and Donnie Davis accounted for 14 apiece.

Ken Whitacre's 17 led the Bobcats who lost for the fifth time in nine PVC tilts. Moorefield took both of its games from Circleville with last night's triumph being added to the 54-43 victory marked up earlier in the season. The Jackets have bagged four of their last five outings and are now 7-7 in the league and 7-8 for the campaign.

Jimmy Paugh lost in 17 points to spearhead the Moorefield attack. Jimmy Keller, Martin Evans and Doug Yankey slammed in 34 more among themselves. Jack Bland matched Paugh's point-production for the Indians. He was assisted by Larry Wimer, with 12, and Joe Harper, who bucketed 11.

Moorefield led at the quarters, 21-8, 37-22 and 59-35.

Twilight League To Meet Tonight

The schedule will be approved and other business transacted when the Twilight Baseball League meets today 7:30 p. m., at the Wilson Hardware Company building, North Mechanic Street.

Seven teams have been granted franchises for the 1959 season and the officials are hopeful of adding one more club. Other teams interested are urged to send representatives to tonight's meeting.

Westernport, Barlow, Lonaconing, Klondyke, Mt. Savage, Franklin and Zillah are the teams already lined up for the 1959 race.

Share Scoring Honors
Scaletta and Wilt shared the scoring honors for the Explorers, both hitting for 15 markers. Scaletta, hero in the victory over Allegany, sat out part of the third and fourth quarters, but caged six goals in 14 attempts and had three free throws for his total. Wilt, getting 11 of his tallies in the second half, made seven of 17 attempts along with a foul toss.

Mackler and Baken shared 26 markers, the LaSalle pivotman hooping seven charity tosses and connecting three times from the floor. Baken got nine of his 13 points in the opening half.

Henry, who fouled out along with Lewis near the three-minute mark of the fourth period, took scoring honors for the game with 16 points, including a 6-for-8 at the free-throw line. Twelve of his markers were produced in the first half.

Robinson, with only two goals in the opening two quarters, led the Red Raiders after intermission with eight of his dozen points but had an off night by hitting only five of 23 from the floor. Lewis finished with 10 counters for the losers.

Ewbank Gets Nifty Bonus, 3-Year Pact

BALTIMORE (AP)—Weeb Ewbank's gamble with job security has paid off handsomely.

The little coach who led the Baltimore Colts to their first National Football League title in 1958 was rewarded Tuesday night with a $25,000 bonus and a new three-year contract calling for $30,000 annually.

Carroll Rosenbloom, principal owner of the Colts, said the contract will be renegotiated each year. That means Ewbank will receive at least two years' salary in the event he is fired.

"I hope our contract is forever," Rosenbloom said at the team's annual press party. "A better man we do not believe we can find. If he fouls up, I'll buy up his contract first thing."

Recalls Five Years Ago
Rosenbloom recalled that he said much the same thing five years ago when Ewbank quit as an assistant coach of the Cleveland Browns and joined the Colts.

"And for awhile I thought he had been here forever," he said. Ewbank admitted the climb to the top of NFL wasn't easy. He predicted when he took over the down-trodden Colts in 1954 that he'd produce a title contender in five years. After the first season, he said he felt he may have made a mistake. In 1956 he almost was fired.

"I could have ridden the shirt-tail of Paul Brown, coach of Cleveland, since he was always 10 years ahead of the game," Ewbank said. "Now I'm glad I came and stuck it out."

Higher Than Plane
Rosenbloom, who gives the Colts players post-season "merit awards," said he discussed the bonus and contract with Ewbank on the flight back from New York after the Colts whipped the Giants 23-17 last Dec. 28.

"I guess I was higher in the clouds than the plane," he said. The Colts also announced they have told the Baltimore Park Board to tear up the rental contract for Memorial Stadium and write another one more favorable to the city.

Gen. Mgr. Don Kotlet said the contract, which had four years to run, gave the city 3 per cent of the gross attendance after taxes against a $2,500 minimum per game for three years and 4 per cent after that.

"We never paid the minimum of $2,500," Kotlet said. Last season the Colts drew more than 300,000 fans for their six home games.

In Memoriam

In memory of our Father, Richard G. Smith, who passed away Jan. 30, 1959, at his home, 1324 S. 10th St., who passed away February 2, 1959. Days of sadness are still with us. Tears in silence often flow. Memory keeps you both near us. Though you left us years ago, you are gone but not forgotten. And our hearts ache for you still. Forgotten perhaps by others, but by us you never will. Sadly missed by THE CHILDREN

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, February 9, 1939

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Attend to left-over tasks, neglected correspondence. Channel energies in profitable directions. Move with decision, covering essential details promptly. Be useful, too.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—If you don't settle according to plan, rearrange your schedule so as to accomplish with ease and coordination. Look to those whom you can trust for desired advice. And do not put forth a little extra effort.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Generally favorable vibrations for business, employment interests, family matters, routine duties. Don't let good ideas drift or die from lack of development. You have talent and it is to be used. Don't let your generous nature be imposed upon.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—This day may require greater effort than you think. Dig in, think, work toward your goals and success will ultimately be yours. People in matters involving pleasure during discussion are helpful. Don't become involved in the affairs of others.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Do not waste time or you will not enjoy the satisfaction of carrying a job to its successful conclusion. Be alert to current opportunities; cooperate with fellow employees, employers. Good Sun sign!

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Those in scientific fields—inventors, researchers, chemists especially—favored now. To those in other fields: put more feeling into your work. If you wish to top previous good records, keep trying!

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Watch your budget, protect money interests and whatever properties you have. Suggestive action now will prevent trouble, loss later. Carry on in a normal, intelligent manner.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—Avoid useless controversy and be temperate in matters involving the emotions. Do everything in your power to help maintain harmony. Slow down and relax.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius)—Use your best judgment now, and try to increase your knowledge, connect with others, too. Truth, justice, compassion, hope—all qualities of the right-living YOU—can help put this day away from front.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 23 (Capricorn)—Concentration and self-reliance needed now. Organizational matters should receive attention. Be soundly conservative in spending your money, generous in saving it. Good advice.

JANUARY 24 to FEBRUARY 23 (Aquarius)—Mild planetary influences. Let them help you to a generous opinion of success, however. You can be accurate, magnetic. Try the unusual if worthwhile, but do avoid questionable schemes.

FEBRUARY 24 to MARCH 23 (Pisces)—You may have to create your own opportunities now. Some hours could be dull if you don't do something definite about them. If you need rest, however, this is the day for it.

YOU BORN TODAY are active, have excellent mental powers and are tireless in conversation. You have many talents and should do all in your power to cultivate them and use them to good, wholesome purpose. Don't be careless in choosing associates. You can sometimes be led astray by the type of persons who flatter. True friends never flatter but may criticize.

Bean Would Cut Valuation Of Property

Senator Cites Reason For Class 1 Views To Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A bill to require the state tax commissioner to assess property in a county if the assessor failed to raise rates to the necessary level for full state school aid was among 42 measures introduced in the West Virginia Legislature today.

The measure would make it mandatory for the tax commissioner to act if county assessors fail to assess property at 50 per cent of its value this year or other required levels in later years.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy) sponsored a measure to cut by 25 per cent Class 1 property valuations listed in last year's survey. Bean said this was necessary because the survey took into consideration bank deposits and money which are now exempt from taxation under provisions of a Constitutional amendment adopted by the voters last November.

This is designed to prevent a big drop in assessments by counties as a result of the amendment and to avoid the possibility many would stand to lose heavily in state school aid as a result.

Also introduced among 18 House bills and 24 Senate measures were six Democratic steering committee tax bills relating to the Road Commission and the Department of Motor Vehicles. Four others also introduced in the Senate involve changes in state insurance laws.

Among the House bills was one to change the method of electing board of education members, allowing candidates to run on a political party ticket, with nomination in primaries and selection in general elections. Under present law board members are chosen in non-partisan elections.

Another House measure sponsored by Del. Julius Singleton (D-Monongahela) would remove from Public Service Commission jurisdiction municipally owned and operated sewage systems.

Other bills would: —Set up a five-member West Virginia Code Commission to study the State Code.

—Allow county courts to employ county fire marshals.

—Allow persons with vehicles titled in other states to obtain a license in West Virginia without first gaining a new title.

—Require life insurance companies doing business in the state to invest a percentage of their reserve capital in West Virginia securities and real estate.

All were sponsored by Sen. Jack Nuckolls (D-Raleigh).

Five Seeking Bridge Study

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Five senators want Gov. Tawes to appoint a commission to study the advisability of building a bridge to Assateague Island.

The five yesterday introduced a joint resolution proposing that a special group study the "feasibility and ways and means" of a span to the offshore island south of Ocean City.

The resolution called Assateague "one of the finest potential vacation areas of the Eastern Seaboard." Already 2,800 lots have been sold on the island, it said.

Senators backing the resolution were John L. Sanford Jr. (D-Worcester), Frederick C. Makus Jr. (D-Dorchester), Joseph A. Bertorelli (D-Baltimore), Harry T. Phoebe (R-Somerset) and Edward S. Northrop (D-Montgomery).

Gas Rate Case Hearing Opens

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Hearings opened today before the Public Service Commission on a request by Hope Natural Gas Co. for a $1,895,000 a year rate increase to some 30,000 customers in north-central West Virginia.

The boost would average about 10 per cent to customers in the Parkersburg, Fairmont, Morgantown and Clarksburg regions, the company said.

Hope attorney Harold M. Garrett, Clarksburg, said the company proposed to increase rates of residential customers by 12 1/2 per cent or about $1 a month. Rates for industrial users would go up 7 1/2 per cent.

The PSC noted it had received several letters of protest as well as a petition signed by more than 100 persons.

Three attorneys representing 21 industries also opposed the proposed increases. They included Robert B. McDougall, representing 19 firms in and around Parkersburg; Chesney M. Carney, representing Continental Can Co., Clarksburg; and Charles B. Johnson, representing Rolland Glass Co., Clarksburg.

Episcopalian Diocese Near Building Goal

Will Form Reserve From Which Units May Borrow Funds

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Episcopal Diocese of Maryland is closing in on its construction fund goal of $1,700,000.

In an address to the 175th convention of the diocese last night, Bishop Noble C. Powell said more than $1,400,000 has been donated or pledged to the Episcopal Advance Fund. The money will form a reserve from which congregations can borrow for needed buildings.

A diocesan spokesman said only about 50 per cent of the diocese members have been approached for contributions.

Bishop Powell said the money collected will form a revolving fund and no grants will be made. He said the loans will be made on a long-term basis and at a low interest rate.

The bishop said parishes in need of capital should first borrow on their own credit before applying for loans from the diocese.

The two-day session at the Church of the Redeemer, which drew about 400 clergymen, lay delegates and members, featured an address today by The Right Rev. Harry Lee Doll, bishop coadjutor of the diocese.

Scheduled for approval today was a plan to reorganize the diocese into seven departments, replacing a large number of existing commissions. The plan also would mean a change in the number of representatives to various offices in the diocese.

Dairy Workers Pay Increased

Fifty plant workers in local and area dairies received a seven-cent an hour wage increase on the first of this month under an agreement with Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union.

The firms affected are the Queen City Cooperative Dairy, Dashiell Dairy, Liberty Milk Company, Barton's Dairy, Royal Dairy and Dairy Service Corporation, according to C. E. Stutzman, business agent for the union.

An automatic wage increase goes into effect tomorrow for 800 drivers and 150 maintenance workers represented by Cumberland 453, Teamsters Union.

The men are employed by eight trucking companies operating from the Bedford area.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, said the drivers will receive seven cents more an hour and an additional quarter-cent on each mile driven. The maintenance workers will receive a flat ten-cent an hour increase, he added.

Three Killed In Accident

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Three men were killed and two others were injured slightly last night when an automobile struck one tractor trailer, bounced off and rammed into another big vehicle.

The accident occurred on what is known as Double S curve on U.S. 340 at Hallowton, about 4 miles east of Charles Town.

State Police identified the dead as William Cline Menear, 29, William Osborne Shull, 19, and Ronald Allen Glassford, 17, all of Summit Point, Jefferson County.

Police said Menear, a member of the Air Force stationed in New Jersey, was driving west when his car hit an eastbound tractor-trailer operated by Alfred Miller Klips of Winchester, Va.

The auto then rammed into a second truck, operated by Hal Edward Cooler of Bulls Gap, Tenn. Cooler and a passenger, Bill Jones of Limestone, Tenn., suffered minor injuries.

Klips was not hurt.

Truck Driver Dies As Accident Result

SALISBURY (AP)—Harry C. Truitt, 75, of Pittsboro, Wicomico County, died today in Peninsula General Hospital of injuries sustained a week ago when his pickup truck collided with an automobile. Police said Truitt was making a left turn on to U.S. 50 just east of Pittsboro when his vehicle was hit by an east-bound auto.

Intruder Steals $88 From Local Club

City Police today were investigating a breaking and entering which occurred last night at the Christopher Columbus Club, 110 North Mechanic Street.

Del. Thomas See said the intruder entered the building by a rear window. Approximately $88 in cash was stolen.

Liquor Bills Given Study

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The perennial question of legalizing over-the-bar sale of whisky in West Virginia came before the Legislature today in the form of a two-resolution "package" which would let the voters choose between liquor by the drink and a prohibition.

Del. J. E. Watson (D-Marion), sponsor of the resolutions, said they would allow voters to decide the question "once and for all" in the next general election in 1960.

If both were approved by the voters, Watson said the Supreme Court would probably nullify both—and the situation would remain as it now exists.

One resolution proposed an amendment identical to the one ratified by the voters in 1913 when the sale of intoxicating beverages was banned. The other would permit the sale of liquor by-the-drink at a limited number of outlets.

West Virginia Highway Bills Introduced

Passenger Auto License Fees Would Undergo Adjustment

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Six measures relating to operation of the State Road Commission and the Department of Motor Vehicles and sponsored by the joint 10-member House-Senate Democratic steering committee were introduced in the State Senate today.

In some instances the measures were different from those dropped into the House hopper Monday. All were sponsored by Sen. O.H. Ballard (D-Mercer), chairman of the Senate Roads Committee.

One would require the state road commission to operate on a fiscal-year budget and submit an itemized budget. No such bill has been introduced in the House.

Another would set up new classifications for licensing of passenger cars, but the rates range from $20 to $28 whereas the House bill proposed the rate range at $20 to $30. The Senate measure increased by an average of 12 1/2 per cent all truck classifications, while the House measure reduced the number of classifications from 503 to 31 and instituted the 12 1/2 per cent increase.

One measure would provide that the State Road Commission could issue bonds in the amount of $5,000,000 to obtain money for highway construction purposes under the 1920 Good Roads Amendment. The House measure called for the amount to be $10,000,000.

The other measures would remove an exemption enjoyed by non-highway users from payment of the gasoline tax, raise the present gas tax from six to seven cents a gallon, and set the fee for renewal of drivers' licenses at $5 instead of the present $1 for four years.

America's first lighthouse was built at Beaver Tail, off Jamestown, R.I., in the middle of the 18th century.

Cooperative Contends Milk Controls Needed

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers Inc. hoped to show a federal examiner today why wholesale milk of the year. The price would be $5.10 per hundredweight in Maryland from April through June.

The Maryland-Virginia Milk Producers Assn. already has won a court order blocking the marketing order of the Department of Agriculture for the Washington area. It would go into force if approved by two-thirds of the area's milk producers.

The Maryland coup is seeking a similar order covering another area of Maryland.

R. L. Strock, the cooperative's assistant manager, was expected to take the stand in the third day of hearings to detail reasons for the order request.

Jack Bain, examiner for the Department of Agriculture, is hearing the case.

Bain yesterday rejected a motion by Sidney Berde, assistant attorney general of Minnesota, to toss out the cooperative's request.

The cooperative has asked for a federal order selling at $5.70 per hundredweight.

Last year the wholesale price of milk in Maryland ranged between $3.50 and $5.50 per hundredweight. Cooperative officials have admitted that controls might lead to hikes in the retail price.

The longest bridge in New England is the Jamestown across the west passage of Narragansett Bay in Rhode Island. It is 6,382 feet long.
